

Storm Is Menace to U.S. Ship

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 14 (UPI)—Dying Hurricane Dora moved up the Atlantic front today and threatened a stricken ship with 100 persons aboard. Wenthoff, official said Dora was virtually reduced to a gale with highest winds 35 to 40 miles per hour. But it kicked up mountainous seas preventing coast guard rescuers from removing the men aboard the burned hulk of the SS Globe Explorer.

At 8 a.m. EST, the poorly defined center of the storm was located near latitude 38.0 north longitude 73.0 west—or about 120 miles southeast of Atlantic City, New Jersey—moving northeast at 18 miles per hour.

The weather bureau said Dora will have tides from two to four feet above normal north of Myrtle Beach, S.C. The storm was expected to pass southeast of Cape Cod late this afternoon.

Further, the Cherokee, was sailing by about 200 miles off Virginia's coast today, waiting for the stormy seas to subside so she can rescue the nine men aboard the drifting freighter.

The 300 persons who fled the storm's flooding debris began moving back into their homes today and counting up the damage.

Early estimates by officials ordered into the hard-hit areas of Georgia and Florida by President Johnson put the damage at 200 billion dollars.

Six persons were killed in unrelated accidents.

Weathermen were keeping a sharp eye on two other tropical storms, but neither posed an immediate threat to land areas.

Hurricane Ethel was reported moving up the north Atlantic about 100 miles south of Nova Scotia and a new tropical storm, Edna, was located in the Atlantic about 1,000 miles southeast of Puerto Rico.

Johnson and Nominee May Visit Idaho

His Democratic chairman, Ted Walker, Twin Falls, today he expects both President Johnson and vice presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey to pay in Idaho during the campaign.

So far no time or place has been announced for a visit by either one.

"Our great effort, as distinguished from Goldwater, will be to win for the entire Democratic slate," said Walker.

He said he expects the Democratic county ticket in Twin Falls and Adams county to be at least slightly successful.

"We won't work in the same manner as the Republicans," said Walker. "But I think we've never been better, in addition, we have a reason to win. This man (Goldwater) could be a disaster for the United States."

Walker said in the east there is a feeling in political circles that the partisans of presidential nominee Barry Goldwater "don't care whether they win or not" as they gain control of the publican party."

He said the fact that Roland Ober, Lewiston, a strong Goldwater partisan, "was the only one to receive VIP treatment on the Goldwater forces," is an indication of what is happening nationwide.

Walker noted that Wilbur was able to fly with Goldwater to campaign stops from September 10 last week. Wilbur was appointed to coordinate the plane for Goldwater campaign in Idaho, Montana and Wyoming.

If you haven't bowed three to Phoenix you're all alone," Walker. "The takeover appears to be a very conscious plan and that businessmen going over almost on mass are Democrats. He said this indicates how radical Goldwater is."

4 Die Over Week-End in Gem State

By United Press International
A Gem county traffic accident killed three persons and helped boost the Idaho road toll to 175 over the weekend.

There was another traffic death near Post Falls in northern Idaho—in other weekend mishaps, a Boise man drowned at Lucky Peak reservoir and a small boy was killed by a running horse's trailer door at Coeur d'Alene.

The Gem county crash took the lives of a Roswell, N.M., couple and a small girl believed to be their granddaughter.

The New Mexico residents were identified as Harvey W. Johnson, 63, and his wife, Olive, 63. Sheriff's officers had not made positive identification of the girl, who was about nine years old. They said her last name was believed to be Cummings.

Sheriff Robert Worley said a car driven by Johnson collided with an auto driven by Jerry Walton, 17, Emmett, at the intersection of state highway 52 and the Black Canyon road about 12 miles northwest of Emmett Sunday night. Walton, his brother, Danny, 16, and sister, Connie, 13, were seriously hurt. The other traffic victim of the weekend was Brownie Green Barth, Spokane, who was thrown from his car near Paul Mallory Sunday when it struck another vehicle from the rear.

Jet Service To Start in Idaho Soon

HOHES, Sept. 14 (UPI)—United Airlines today announced that it will begin the first jet service into Boise with the Boeing 727.

There will be one eastbound flight each day—Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, with the big three-engine planes, which can carry 60 passengers. United said the plane carries at speeds of 550 to 600 miles per hour at altitudes up to 35,000 feet, and can climb as high as 42,000.

Two of its engines are mounted on sides of the fuselage with the third mounted in the tail cone at the base of the vertical fin.

The eastbound flight will leave Newark, N.J., at 1:30 p.m. eastern time, arrive in Chicago at 3:30 p.m., central time; Denver at 5:00 p.m., Salt Lake City at 6:45 p.m., and Boise at 7:35 p.m. All leave Boise at 8 p.m. arriving in Portland at 8:45 p.m. Pacific coast time, and Seattle, Tacoma at 8:55 p.m.

The largest plane presently flying out of an Idaho airfield is the DC-7.

A United spokesman said the airline had not expected to start jet service into Idaho until next year, but was ahead of schedule.

Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY—Partly cloudy tonight. Cooler and fair Tuesday. High 70 to 75, low 48 to 52. Outlook for Wednesday is not much change. Temperatures at 1 a.m., 45° at Jerome, 55 with 40 per cent humidity at Twin Falls weather bureau, 55 with 82 per cent humidity at Twin Falls meteorology laboratory, 48 at Rupert, 55 at Fairview, 52 at Buhl, 48 at Castleford and 44° at Wendell; at noon, 71 with 57 per cent humidity at Twin Falls weather bureau.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Lower pressures aloft are forecast to prevail just off the West coast with predominantly southwesterly flow over the northern Colorado-mountain region through next Saturday. Pacific storm systems will move inland across Canada with only trailing portions of these disturbances crossing agricultural valleys of southern Idaho.

Temperatures under this pattern will average three to six degrees above normal over agricultural valleys during the next five days. Cooler weather is expected Tuesday followed by warming Wednesday and Thursday before minor cooling again takes over Thursday night and Friday. Normal temperatures for this five-day period are Gooding 74-45, Twin Falls 70-42 and Burley 77-42.

No general freeze is forecast this week for agricultural valleys of southern Idaho with the exception of Camas prairie where night-time temperatures will drop below freezing tonight and again about Friday night.

Precipitation in the form of scattered showers are most likely to accompany Pacific disturbance toward the end of the week with Thursday night and Friday most liable for shower activity. Rainfall amounts are expected to total generally less than .10 to .15 inches this week.

Humidity will total around 70 to 75 per cent of possible with day-long cloudiness breaking today, Thursday and Friday. Winds will average near normal becoming slightly stronger after mid-week. Low moisture losses will continue to show seasonal declines averaging .20 to .25 of an inch per day.

The agricultural weather outlook this week indicates that the first half will be most favorable for harvesting and other outside activities. Warmer weather of the past several days coupled with the forecast for above normal temperatures this week will aid in the maturing rates of beans and corn. Expected scattered shower activity after mid-week will help moisture supplies for newly seeded grain but may hamper harvesting of vegetables and fruit crop temporarily. The week's forecast weather appears favorable for stock movement from higher ranges.

WEATHER BYCROFT

The latest weather changes show a weak Pacific cool front moving eastward across Idaho that is forecast to shift to a line from the Wyoming to central Utah by midnight. Partly cloudy skies and slightly cooler air are and will be the results from this disturbance over agricultural valleys. A few showers are possible over higher mountain elevations in the north but little or no shower activity is expected over valley areas.

Afternoon temperatures yesterday were summer time readings with maximums in the 80's generally although Ontario, Ore., hit 91 degrees. Temperatures will ring today and tomorrow with afternoon readings in the upper 70's to mid 80's today and generally in the 70's tomorrow. Nighttime temperatures will remain above the front level with minimums from the mid 30's to mid 40's over eastern and southeastern valleys and in the mid to upper 40's over southwestern valleys.

Only Camas prairie will fall below these readings with minimums from the mid 30's to lower 30's. Gradual warming is expected Wednesday and Thursday.

NORTH IDAHO—Considerable cloudiness with a few showers tonight. Partly cloudy and cooler Tuesday. High 70 to 80, low 55 to 65.

44 Negroes Start School In-Jackson

Mr. United Press International
Forty-four Negro students were admitted to enter mixed classes for the first time in Jackson, Miss., today, and the nation's first school system faced an opening-day boycott because of a controversial integration plan.

While parents called a two-day boycott of New York City's public schools today in protest to an integration plan that involved transferring some students out of their neighborhoods,

Leaders of two parents' groups organizing the boycott predicted it would keep 250,000 or 300,000 students away from classes. The nation's largest school system, which opened its new school term today, has more than one million students enrolled.

Negroes boycotted the New York schools twice last year in protest to the same integration plan which they considered inadequate.

Officials in Jackson said they expected no trouble when the Negro children enter eight elementary schools, but elaborate security precautions were in force.

The eight schools have been under 24-hour guard since desegregation was announced and police said they would allow no one but students and teachers into the areas around the schools.

The Jackson desegregation marks the third in Mississippi which that year became the last state in the nation to admit Negroes to classes with whites in public schools.

It is also the largest desegregation in Mississippi.

Earlier this year 17 Negroes entered mixed classes in Bloxton and one Negro girl was admitted to white schools in Cartage.

Sen. Goldwater Goes to Demo South for Campaign Talks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater marches on the White House into the traditionally Democratic South Tuesday.

The Arizona senator — who has declared that "no Republican can do anything against Johnson without the support of the South" — sets out to convert the old Confederacy with appearances in eight Southern states.

If the second week of his presidential campaign is anything like the first, Goldwater will be flying freely and hard at PRIMETIME, and pump the voters' hands in a style that astounded even his closest admirers.

Goldwater played to his big-and-most-enthusiastic crowds in Los Angeles, Seattle, Wash., Boise, and Minneapolis, Minn., last week during the opening chapter of his race for the presidency.

The sharpont charges came in prepared speeches he delivered at Seattle and Minneapolis. Major promises — a five-year, 8 per cent tax cut, in a speech more than 83,000 people in Marquette, Ohio.

Goldwater stressed these charges:

"That the Democrats have timed foreign crises to make political capital, and must do again. Americans must be prepared, under such an administration to face by crisis of some sort just before an election," he told an overflow crowd in Seattle.

— That dangerous powers are in the hand of the government — and particularly the White House. In Boise, Goldwater said Johnson has "unholy power never envisioned by the Constitution."

— That lawlessness is mounting, particularly in what Goldwater calls the "boss-controlled" Democratic cities of the East.

In Minneapolis, Goldwater's talk linked that squarely with civil rights troubles.

Airman Dies As Hose Hits His Head

HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Sept. 14 (UPI) — An airman was fatally injured last night when a high-pressure compressor hose broke and struck him in the head at Hill air force base.

The name of the victim was withheld by the air force pending notification of next-of-kin. A spokesman said the airman was assigned to a F-101 jet aircraft to stint when the hose carrying an estimated 3,000 pounds snapped.

The hose also ruptured an external fuel tank on the F-101, but there was no fire and the aircraft itself was not damaged. The victim died at the base shortly after the mishap.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—Organized labor has stepped up a drive to sell its white members the civil rights act of 1964. But its leaders are still fearful that the white backlash will give Barry Goldwater votes that in other years have gone to the Democratic candidate.

They have been making confidential checks in various big northern cities where labor is a dominant political force, and the results have not been reassuring. Top AFL-CIO white rank-and-file, they are convinced that the rights law is a plot to distribute their jobs to Negroes.

In Milwaukee, according to one pollster, a check showed more than 40 per cent of union members either determined to vote for Goldwater or worried about Lyndon Johnson's "favoritism" toward Negroes. "The trouble with those jokers is they don't understand the law," the pollster said. "They think it means that Negroes will get preferential treatment in employment, when it means nothing of the sort."

HIGH TIME—Labor's leaders are concerned enough to put their "education" program on an organized basis. Following an AFL-CIO conference in Washington last week, city central labor units and state federations are establishing civil rights committees and holding "educational conferences" to mull over the problem.

Labor's concern is genuine—and long overdue. Despite its "liberal" image, the labor movement has long been hotbed of discrimination against Negroes, especially in the craft unions. Qualified Negroes have been barred from jobs as "unqualified," or turned away from jobs that later were filled by white workers. In many unions, Negroes have been either barred from membership or admitted on a quota basis.

EXPECT HARRY TO DRAG FEET—Curiously, however, labor generally has thrown its support to Democratic presidential candidates who were strong advocates of civil rights laws, notably Adlai Stevenson and John F. Kennedy. However, Franklin D. Roosevelt's civil rights stance was a phony, and labor knew it, and Harry Truman seldom gave it more than lip service. Now many members of the rank-and-file are faced with a new law which a Democratic President has sworn he will vigorously enforce.

"Sure," Goldwater has said the same thing, said one labor leader. "But the boys figure he'll drag his feet some, because he voted against the bill."

FEAR RACIAL QUOTAS—Besides worrying about preferential treatment for Negroes, many white workers fear for their job security and seniority rights, vital protectors of their weekly pay envelope. They fear racial quotas for employment, despite the fact such quotas have been declared illegal by LeRoy Collins, director of the civil rights act's community relations service.

In short the white backlash workers like the sound of some of the things Goldwater says, such as that the protection of Negro rights should be left to the states. Statements like that have a specific, protective ring, despite their leaders' arguments that Goldwater's record is anti-labor.

VIEWS OF OTHERS
SCANDAL OF ELECTORS
This year's version of the recurring Southern delegate controversy at the Democratic national convention calls attention once more to the need of liberation from the archaic fantasies of the electoral college.

The notion that American presidents are chosen by electors instead of by the people is a legal fiction. This is a democracy in which presidential elections should be and usually are decided by the will of the voters. But because the fiction of the electoral college survives, the will of the voters is denied expression in some states and the potential always exists for frustrating it nationally. Should that ever happen, the upshot would be extreme. We ought not to wait for it to happen before correcting the system which might prevent it.

In the circumstances, nobody can sympathize with the spurious complaint of the regular Mississippi and Alabama delegates at Atlantic City over being required to take a minimized "loyalty oath." It is true, however, that the general principle of requiring delegates to pledge support for any candidate chosen by a majority is repugnant to common sense and decency. Delegates along with other citizens should be free, and in fact are free, to consult only their own consciences in deciding how to vote for president in November.

The question arises only because the state laws in the South permit the election of unpledged electors, and that is where the remedy should be sought. It is a disgrace that temporarily dominant state politicians in Mississippi or Alabama can take it upon themselves to decide what candidate for president the voters of those states shall have the right to vote on. It is even more of a disgrace that popular votes cast for the candidate of a national party can be converted into electoral votes cast for some other candidate.

Mississippi's unpledged elector law has just been upheld by a special three-judge federal court. The Supreme Court might not agree, or perhaps Congress could deal with the problem. But the safest way to guaranteeing the integrity of popular suffrage in presidential elections is to abolish the electoral college fiction altogether. —St. Louis Post Dispatch.

ENCOURAGING HOOKY
Not long ago, a student at the University of Oregon sent a shiver through faculty ranks by proposing to record and distribute lecture texts. Now, as a result of the electronic age in the classroom, and it may not be observed that the classroom will never be the same again. The tape recorder is knocking down its walls and its hour-by-hour class deadlines.

The ubiquity of the cheap tape recorder has freed many students—in their own minds at least—from routine class attendance. They can listen, at their convenience, to lectures taped by a fellow student.

Now comes even bigger step forward. Or is it backward? If each college in New York will this fall begin the recording of all lectures given by a, or more likely, the tape will be filed in the college's electrical communications center—a new feature of modern universities—and will be available for transmission by telephone to any student merely by dialing the particular tape's code number.

One can well imagine the response of the student who hates that early morning class; can have a late, leisurely breakfast, then dial in. The temptation will be for lecturers, themselves, to skip class and record lectures, thus escaping the tyranny of the clock.

Such a system could save money otherwise used for classroom rent. But what would it do to faculty? Education is one area in which personal relationships between students and administration predominate. STAFF WRITER TO SOUTHERN

Perhaps Mrs. Nash had a fairly good analysis of the situation in Dixville, N.H., clerk and voting registrar who planned to keep the polls closed in the primary election. Mrs. Gertrude Nash announced the polls would not open because "there was no voter interest." Besides that, Mrs. Nash said she was ill. It's absolutely incredible that any one person—especially an American—should make such a decision.

Dixville's polling place did open and three of eight registered voters cast ballots. So long as there's the possibility of anyone voting in any election the polling place must be in operation. It's unthinkable that anyone should be deprived of the right to vote because one individual won't open the polls. State laws vary, with some states specifying hours for the polling places to be open and others permitting polling places to close after all registered voters have cast their ballots.

Any public official who could be so capricious and arbitrary as to deny voters the chance to cast ballots should be subject to stern disciplinary action at the earliest opportunity.

REVISIONIST!
In this way, we feel sorry for that intellectual in Peking who launched a campaign to persuade Chinese husbands to help their wives do the housework.

However, idealistic his reasons, he'll probably be read out of the communist party. As Long as You Don't Hit Anything

Poor Man's Plato

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (UPI)—Life would be much simpler for men if women were identifying badges.

I don't mean a badge that says, "I am a woman." What I mean is—a badge that would tell what kind of a woman she was, so a man would know on sight just how to treat her.

In the war between the sexes, women, for all practical purposes, can be divided into three types. Most of man's bewilderment, confusion or absolute dismay in his contacts with a member of the opposing sex—is caused by the fact he isn't sure just what type she is.

These are the three types of women:

1. The superwoman who thinks she is better than any man.

2. The shrewd conniver, she demands equal rights with men, but also expects all the special privileges historically accorded ladies.

3. The clinging vine woman. All she wants from a man is everything he has—plus whatever he can borrow at the bank.

It would make for a more ordered world, I submit, if each of these feminine types would start identifying badges—at least in public.

For the superwoman, I suggest a lapel pin showing a spiked heel crushing a worm. The worm, of course, symbolizes man.

When a fellow saw that badge, he would realize instantly:

"Here is a gal who knows more about my topic—in the world than I could ever possibly learn."

"Here is a gal who could pin me in a wrestling match, outside me on horseback, or beat me in a gun duel."

"No matter what she says, I will reply, 'Yes, ma'am.'

For the second type—the shrewd conniver, a proper symbol might be a feminine Janus head, with its two faces looking in opposite directions.

When a fellow saw that badge, he would say to himself:

"She's the dependent independent type."

"She wants to compete with me for my job, which she thinks she can do better."

"But if we go out together for a business lunch, she will be too weak-to-pick-up-the-check. She will also expect me to pay for the meal."

"It is reasonable to expect me to hold my umbrella over her head while my head gets wet."

For the third feminine type, the clinging vine, an excellent symbol might be a startled fawn standing in a cradle.

When a fellow saw that badge, he would think:

"She is an helpless as a bundle of wet wash."

"She expects me to put her on a pedestal."

"It would be fun to cuddle this little baby, but if I carry her I'll have to spoon-feed her, do the diaper, and spend the rest of my life wiping her tears away."

Yes, it would be a far, far better world for men if women were Identifying badges. But they never will. That's the trouble with the unfair sex. They never give fair warning!

If a crisis can be said to be continuing one, then for the last four years the Congo has answered that description.

It is a crisis that has defied solution by the United States, by the United Nations, the Belgians, the Russians and the Congolese themselves.

For the Republic of the Congo has never been a nation. Nor has it had a truly stable structure.

Phil Newsom permitted the emergence of a man who might be a national leader although several including U.S. Patrice Lumumba, former Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula and now Moise Tshombe have tried to create the image of national leaders.

The Congo already was on its way back to the jungle when the last United Nations troops pulled out at the end of June and it accelerated its pace with their departure.

Savagery, bow-and-arrow warfare, murder, rape and even cannibalism rushed to fill the vacuum left by departing authority.

Against this background of failure and frustration, the unlikely of all collaborators met in the Belgian city of Antwerp this week for another attempt at solution.

On the one hand was Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe pleading for the aid of black African troops to help bring about order, and on the other

Plan Holds No Promise For Farmers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (UPI)—The impending expansion of the food stamp plan while hailed generally as a major program for agriculture—holds little promise for the nation's dairy farmers.

As needy persons are shifted from the government's food donation program to the food stamp plan, their consumption of dairy products most likely will decline. Many dairy industry leaders are expressing concern and some are saying dairymen should have opposed recently enacted legislation authorizing extension of the stamp plan to many areas not now covered.

Needy persons under the agriculture department's food donation program get large quantities of surplus butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk bought under a dairy price support program.

Under the food stamp plan, participants get coupons which can be used to buy foods at regular grocery stores. Experience has shown that when the shift is made, the needy change from butter to margarine because the latter is cheaper. They also tend to buy less cheese and nonfat dry milk than they got under the donation program.

Speaker Is Given for Conference

BISMARCK, N.D., Sept. 14 (UPI)—The two-day Western States Water and Power Consumers conference in Bismarck, Oct. 1-2, will spotlight Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota as featured speaker.

McGovern was director of the Food for Peace program for two years under President John F. Kennedy. He is expected to outline the country's resource development needs to the year 1900.

R. Kennedy Is Defended

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (UPI)—Sen. Birch Bayh, D. Ind., yesterday defended former Atty. Gen. Robert P. Kennedy's decision to run as the Democratic candidate for the U.S. senate from New York.

Bayh was questioned on a television program about critics who label Kennedy a carpetbagger because he was not a legal resident of New York when he launched his campaign against Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R., N.Y.

Bayh said Kennedy has spent a great deal of time in New York.

"This has been his home for a great number of years, and there is a very close tie between the attorney general and the state," he said. "I think this adds a great deal of the qualifications that are necessary."

Theme Is Given For Homecoming

LOGAN, Sept. 14 (UPI)—Theme for Utah state university homecoming Oct. 10-24 was announced yesterday as "America's promise" by Leo Burke, chairman.

Being held this year in conjunction with homecoming is the Robins award of America, which annually honors nationally-prominent Americans, selected by student vote on some 125 college campuses. Robins awards last Oct. 24.

Burke said the theme is based on a quotation by Thomas Wolfe from his novel "You Can't Go Home Again." The quotation reads:

"To every man his chance; to every man, regardless of his birth, his abiding golden opportunity; to every man the right to live, to work, to be himself, and to become whatever his mathod and his vision can combine to make him: This, seeker, is the promise of America!"

Minister to Advise Queen Of His Plans

LONDON, Sept. 14 (UPI)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home hoped to fly to Scotland tonight to advise Queen Elizabeth formally of his plans for the parliamentary election expected next month.

Political observers said Douglas-Home probably would announce Tuesday—after talking with the queen, who is in Balmoral Castle, that he had set Oct. 15 as the date of Britain's first national election in five years.

The conservative party platform is expected to be published sometime this week. The full strength of the government "war machine" will be flung into what is expected to be one of the most grueling election fights of this century.

A public opinion poll in the Sunday Telegraph said the conservative party now holds its "best position for more than two years."

Before flying to Scotland, the prime minister scheduled a brief whistle-stop tour through southeastern England today.

Waivers for Teachers Are Needed

BOISE, Sept. 14 (UPI)—Waivers of certification requirements for 23 teachers and counselors it was told were needed to fill out the staffs of several Idaho schools have been granted by the state board of education.

State superintendent of public instruction D. P. Engelsking told the board at the concluding session of its September meeting that it would have to "grant some leniency" to fill the vacancies existing in many school districts.

"We just can't find the personnel to do the job unless we stretch a point in some cases," he said.

Engelsking said most of those seeking waivers have degrees and that minor technicalities prevented them from being fully certified.

Rims held registration at the Lewiston school has reached 1,000 and that nearly 600 students are expected for the fall semester.

The board scheduled its next meeting for Oct. 22-24 at Moscow.

Man Shot as He Defends His Home

WENDRAY, Utah, Sept. 14 (UPI)—A 52-year-old Utah grocer, Joe Cavalya, was critically wounded when he defended his home from two masked intruders early yesterday morning.

The pair forced their way into his home at the back of his small market just after midnight but the rest of his family put up a firm fight.

One of the daughters got away to help. Her father had one of the bandits fought to the floor when the second one shot him twice.

Police picked up one suspect for questioning. He was identified as Ellis Burt Barrett, 29, of Bandy and Pangilinan, who, officers said, had a driver's license made out to Bruce Kirk Johnson and Pangilinan.

Nobody else was hurt but Cavalya was reported in critical condition at the Salt Lake General hospital yesterday.

Cavalya's wife, two daughters—Lotus, 20, and Carmella, 19—and a son, Paul, 10, were all at home in the back of their grocery store, Joe's Island.

The masked bandits came in. Cavalya shouted at his daughters to run and get help. He began struggling with the bandits.

One of the two intruders chased the girls. He grabbed Carmella and pulled her back in, but she got away.

Meanwhile the father had the other holdup man on the floor, so the second bandit fired at him, hitting him twice, in the stomach and in the groin.

The pair took Cavalya's wallet, with an undetermined amount of money, and fled.

FOURING COFFEE DURING the annual American Association of University Women meeting in the state Masonic Hall, Kimberly, local AAUW president, seated, Norma Barnes, Pocatello, state president, is shown in the center, and Mrs. Roger Thomas, assistant, standing.

Norma Barnes, president of the state division of the American Association of University Women, was guest-of-honor at the annual membership luncheon of the local AAUW. Mrs. John E. Hayes, program chairman, introduced Miss Barnes as a lifetime resident of Idaho who studied at Ricks college, Rexburg, and earned her bachelors degree from the University of Idaho, and her masters degree from Columbian university.

Miss Barnes has devoted her life to service in Idaho and is presently chairman of the department of home economics at Idaho State University.

In her speech, Miss Barnes presented the aims and principles of the association in its responsibilities to greater educational achievement. She presented four concepts to guide members in the freedom to learn, freedom to excel, freedom to choose and freedom to live a full life.

"The freedom to learn offers our greatest concrete hope in solving the problems of the world," stated Miss Barnes. "As a state, we should set our goals high and mean to excel."

She continued her theme with the observation that educated women working together have many alternatives than the uneducated commoner. "Education provides us with an increased number of possible solutions to problems," she continued. "AAUW is becoming more alive and more sensitive to its potential than ever before."

Miss Barnes concluded with an explanation of the state organization in legislative procedures emphasizing the importance of furthering Idaho education. Our national office is greatly respected in Washington, D.C., she said, "and our officers are consulted on appointments of women to top governmental positions."

The membership luncheon was under the direction of Mrs. Roger Thomas, assisted by Mrs. K. V. Show and Mrs. Ralph Olmstead. During the business meeting, conducted by local president Mrs. Jane McElroy, the group voted to hold luncheon meetings in the YWCA hall. The next meeting will be Oct. 10.

Annual Air Show Ends In Tragedy

GLENDALE, Sept. 14 (UPI) — The annual Glendale air show ended in tragedy yesterday when a Glasgow air force base airmen made one of the last sky-diving feats of the day and landed in the middle of the Yellowstone river and was believed drowned.

The airmen, Kenneth Knowland, 37, father of seven children, paratrooped from a plane over the Cle Elum municipal airport when a wind drift struck his parachute and he landed in the middle of the river, about 1,000 yards from his target on the field.

Spectators looked on as the lost airmen frantically struggled to steer his parachute away from the currents below. Witnesses to the fall said he was able to close his chute and remove his helmet after landing in the water, before he disappeared under the surface.

Search operations were called off late last night, to be resumed early today.

Knowland was one of seven sky divers, five of them from the Glasgow base, who participated in the annual air event.

Airmen First Class Tony Duran and Paul Shuman also jumped from the plane from which Knowland made his freefall. Both of them also ran into difficult wind and missed their targets.

Shuman landed on a small island in the middle of the river. Duran landed in the middle of a trailer court about one-half mile from the airfield.

Fate Will Be Decided For Children

OROFINO, Sept. 14 (UPI) — The educational fate of five children living on an isolated farm near here may be decided tonight.

As it stands now, they have been denied admittance in one school district and can get to schools in another only with considerable difficulty.

She miles separate the Lloyd Slifer farm from the Orofino school but a quirks in district boundaries puts the farm in Nezperce school district. The nearest Nezperce school is 21 miles away over roads almost impassable in winter.

Orofino school officials have said they oppose redrawing district boundaries to accommodate school age children living in remote areas because they don't want to be responsible for.

The district did, however, offer Mrs. Slifer, mother of the five, $40 a month to drive them to a Nezperce bus stop. She rejected the offer saying she was afraid of the road to the bus stop during winter.

Richard Pike, superintendent of Nezperce schools, has invited the Slifers family including the five children, aged 6 to 17, to a school board meeting Monday night. It is said he hoped some solution would be arrived at.

Talk Will Be Held on Grazing

HELENA, Sept. 14 (UPI) — Five Montana cattlemen will take part in a discussion of federal land grazing practices during a three-day convention that opens in Cedar City, Utah, Tuesday.

The committee on forest advisory and public lands of the American National Cattlemen's association were staging the first "talk" for cattlemen from the Western States. The affair will be held on the Utah southern campus.

SALES RECORD

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14 (UPI) — The Philadelphia football team's 100th anniversary edition of the Washington Football league club sold 47,183 season tickets for the 1964 season, an all-time record for the team.

Can Astronauts Land on Moon?

HOUSTON, Sept. 14 (UPI) — The question is, will an astronaut on the moon go crunch-crunch? Or will he silently coo out of the top lunar layer is a sea of dust from 10 to 100 feet deep.

This, in simplest terms, is the list of perhaps the hottest debate in U.S. space science circles today.

Around this one point

may pivot this nation's chances of putting men on the moon by 1970.

Before committing astronauts to a lunar landing, however, it is obviously wise to find out what they would be landing on. Aside from fanciful suggestions such as green cheese, scientists have long had some very definite ideas concerning the moon's physical makeup.

Unfortunately, science is rarely of a uniform school of thought. The two predominant theories are poles apart. One suggests that the moon's surface is hard or at worst, rather crunchy or verily a top astronomer who is perhaps better known for his controversial theories concerning the development and composition of the universe.

But a final answer probably will be delayed until 1966, when America's rocket mucks are powerful enough to deliver an elaborate payload named Surveyor to a soft landing on the moon. Television pictures from the probe should answer this question once and for all.

Both sides have drawn the support of noted and respected scientists. Dr. George P. Kuiper of the University of Arizona, Dr. Eugene M. Shoemaker of the U.S. geological survey contend the skin is rather like that of hard-boiled, strong enough to support a landing spaceship. This other view is no less well represented. Foremost is Dr. Harold Urey, Nobel Prize winner and professor at large of the University of California.
